The Mining Industry Declared as a Critical Industry!

The mining industry was declared as a critical industry for Turkey like many other countries during the Pandemic in the Mining Council Workshop teleconference attended by Fatih Dönmez, the Minister of Energy and Natural Resources. The ministry introduced support and incentive mechanisms to continue operations. This support played a vital role in the continuation of production in mining as well as in other sub-industries. Dönmez stated: "At the end of November, exports loss was only 4% compared to the previous year. As of November 2020, a total of 25 million tons of mineral products were exported, excluding gold. Thus, 2019 was almost caught in mining exports. In the first half of the year, the amount of exports decreased and the performance of the industry reached last year in the second half of the year."

Mining Assets to Become an Economic Leverage for 2021

Turkey ranks 10th among 132 countries in the global mineral diversity, with 60 varieties of 90 global commercial mining products and minerals produced in Turkey. The annual production value of the Turkish mining industry is 37.2 billion Turkish liras since 2018, with a total mining reserve value of $4 trillion.

The output obtained in the mining industry is very important in the industrial production of countries with many industries using such output as raw material. With its contribution to industrial production, the mining industry also acts as a leverage in countries' economies. Turkey is one of the most important countries with its mining assets.
